

TechKnow.Online: Privacy Statement

TechKnow.Online is a leading technology publication delivering news, views and reviews from the IT industry. Established in early 2016, a fortnightly newsletter, a dedicated website and social messaging are all utilised to provide the readership with up to date announcements in the IT world. The information published is a combination of articles composed from industry sources, and announcements from advertisement sponsors.

TechKnow.Online is wholly owned by CPB UK Ltd and this privacy statement should be read in conjunction with the main company statement at www.cpbuk.co.uk

Information Processed

Information is collected by TechKnow.Online in one of two ways:-

- 1) Completion of the subscription page
Visitors to the website are given the option to subscribe to ongoing newsletters by completing the subscription page. The information submitted is then held in a secure environment as outlined in the main company privacy statement at www.cpbuk.co.uk
- 2) Click throughs to sponsor websites.
Tracking technology may be used within advertisements where TechKnow.Online links to sponsor websites and we would therefore recommend that the sponsor's own privacy statement is read. Any information collected (i.e. corporate IP address) is passed to the sponsor and processed within the GDPR under an assumed Legitimate Interest.

For all other issues relating to data privacy, cookies, data retention and IT & data security please visit the CPB UK Ltd Privacy Statement.

Should you wish to clarify any aspects to do with data privacy please contact the company's Data Protection Officer – Jon Pritchett: jon@cpbuk.co.uk or 01295 263410.